

Cold-Call Flow Cheat Sheet

Cheat Sheet - Skill: opening - Difficulty: beginner - Est. 5 min

Draft resource pending human editorial review - not yet professionally verified.

A one-glance map of a cold call from hello to next step, so you always know which stage you are in and what the goal of that stage is.

Learning objectives

- Recognise the five stages of a cold call
- Know the single goal of each stage
- Keep moving without rushing the prospect
- Exit gracefully at any stage

The flow

Stage	Goal	One prompt
Open	Earn a few seconds	Identity + permission + reason
Relevance	Connect to a real problem	"A lot of teams like yours run into..."
Question	Learn if it applies	"Is that something you deal with?"
Next step	Propose something small	"Worth 20 minutes to look at?"
Close out	Leave a good impression	Thank them, confirm or step back

Reminders

- One goal per stage - do not try to close in the opener.
- A question beats a monologue at every stage.
- A firm no ends the flow; thank them and move on.

Worked example

Open: "Hi Jordan, Sam with Northlight - can I borrow 30 seconds?" Relevance: "Teams your size tell me weekend coverage slips." Question: "Does that happen to you?" Next step: "Worth 20 minutes to see how two others fixed it?" Close out: "Thanks either way."

Safe-practice note

This is a map, not a script to force. Let the prospect skip or end stages. Do not fabricate the relevance line - only claim patterns you can honestly stand behind.
