Reviewed professional resource - AmplifyHub Practical Resource Library

Overview

A short weekly review that captures what you practised, what improved, what got in the way, and the one thing you will focus on next week - to keep progress deliberate.

Learning objectives

- Summarise a week of practice honestly
- Name one clear improvement
- Identify one obstacle and a response to it
- Set a single focus for the next week

This week

- What I practised most (calls, roleplays, lessons): _____
- One thing that clearly improved: _____
- One thing that got in the way: _____
- What I will do differently about that obstacle: _____
- My single focus for next week: _____

Professional standard

Professional improvement uses observable criteria, a consistent scoring method, and one focused experiment at a time. Scores support coaching decisions; they are not labels of talent or potential.

Professional workflow

1. Complete one real practice example before adding multiple rows. This reveals unclear fields and prevents the worksheet from becoming busywork.
2. Use observable facts and your own behaviour rather than assumptions about a prospect, interviewer, or colleague. Leave a field blank when you do not know.
3. Write short, decision-ready notes: what happened, what it means, and the next action. Avoid long diary entries that are difficult to review.

4. Review the completed sheet on a fixed cadence and choose one improvement priority. Do not change several behaviours at once.
5. Store only business-appropriate information and remove personal identifiers that are not required for learning or planning.

Quality-control review

Review point	Professional standard	Warning sign
Criteria	Each score describes behaviour that a reviewer can hear or see.	Labels such as good or confident are used without evidence.
Consistency	The same scale and conditions are used across comparable sessions.	The standard changes according to mood or outcome.
Feedback	Notes name one strength, one priority, and one specific next action.	A long list of faults leaves no practical focus.
Retest	The chosen behaviour is practised and reviewed again.	Scores are recorded but never used to guide practice.

Evidence and improvement signals

- Use trend direction across multiple sessions instead of chasing a perfect score.
- Separate delivery, listening, relevance, and next-step skills so feedback is diagnostic.
- Invite a second reviewer periodically to check scoring consistency.
- Promote a new focus only after the current behaviour is reliably demonstrated.

Worked example (focus)

Improved: "openers feel more natural." Obstacle: "I skipped practice on busy days."
 Response: "attach one five-minute roleplay to my morning coffee." Next week focus: "pausing after questions." One focus is enough to actually move.

Safe-practice note

Review your own effort and behaviours, not vanity metrics or prospect data. Be honest but kind - the point is steady progress, not a perfect week. Keep only one focus so it is achievable.
