

Three-Touch Follow-Up Sequence

Template - Skill: follow-up - Difficulty: beginner - Est. 9 min

Draft resource pending human editorial review - not yet professionally verified.

A short, respectful three-message follow-up where each touch adds a different useful angle - a recap, a relevant insight, and a permission-to-close - instead of repeating "just checking in".

Learning objectives

- Write three follow-ups that each add new value
- Space the messages out with clear timing
- Reference something specific from the call
- End the sequence with a respectful close

The sequence

Touch	Timing	Angle
1 - Recap	Same day	Thank them, recap what you discussed, restate the next step.
2 - Insight	2-3 days later	Share one relevant, genuinely useful idea or resource.
3 - Permission to close	4-5 days later	Ask if you should keep this open or close it out for now.

Fill in before sending

- Prospect name and role: _____
- The specific problem or comment from the call: _____
- The one insight or resource for touch 2: _____
- The clear next step you are proposing: _____

Worked example (Touch 3)

"Hi Jordan - I do not want to clutter your inbox, so this is my last note for now. If the driver-scheduling issue is still worth a look, I am happy to set up 20 minutes. If the timing is not right, no problem at all - just let me know and I will close this out. Either answer is helpful."

Safe-practice note

Follow up to be useful, not to pressure. Do not send daily messages or imply urgency that is not real. Always give the prospect an easy way to say "not now" and honour it.
